Brown County is sending very mixed messages on this resolution as currently written. WCV is advising citizens and supervisors to oppose the resolution at its Jan. 13 Board meeting.

GREEN BAY – Wisconsin Conservation Voters has been working alongside Brown County Supervisors to adopt a resolution to support greater use of clean energy in Brown County. However, edits that were made to the resolution in September make it impossible for Wisconsin Conservation Voters to support the resolution in its current form.

Wisconsin Conservation Voters, RENEW Wisconsin, and Clean Wisconsin have all opposed edits made to the resolution which incorrectly define natural gas as clean energy despite it having a carbon footprint, as well as a clause discouraging any future wind generation facilities within the entire county.
