

Trump to end asylum protections for most Central American migrants at US-Mexico border

Written by The Hill Press
Monday, 15 July 2019 11:51 -

WASHINGTON, D.C. - The Trump administration is moving to end asylum protections for most Central American migrants, the Department of Justice announced Monday.

According to a new rule published in the Federal Register, asylum seekers who pass through another country before reaching the U.S. will be ineligible for asylum when they reach the southern border.

Read the full story here