

Mueller report fades from political conversation

Written by The Hill Press

Wednesday, 21 August 2019 08:26 - Last Updated Thursday, 22 August 2019 08:32

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Robert Mueller's Russia report has largely faded from the airwaves less than a month after the former special counsel's high-profile congressional testimony, a possible warning sign to Democrats that most voters have lost interest in the probe.

Read the full story here