Political and campus leaders will discuss how young people play a pivotal role in moving our country forward, Joe Biden's plan to build the economy back better, and the importance of voting.

WISCONSIN -- On Thursday, October 29, the Democratic Party of Wisconsin's Get Out The Vote bus tour will make campus stops in River Falls, Eau Claire and La Crosse with State Treasurer Sarah Godlewski.

At University of Wisconsin-River Falls and University of Wisconsin-Eau Claire, Godlewski, legislators, local candidates, and campus leaders will talk about what is at stake for young people this election including access to health care and the economy. They will also encourage people to make a plan to cast their ballot now that early in-person voting is underway in Wisconsin.

At University of Wisconsin-La Crosse, State Representative Jill Billings, State Senate candidate Brad Pfaff, Godlewski and campus leaders will discuss how young people play a pivotal role in moving our country forward, Joe Biden's plan to build the economy back better, and the importance of voting.
