Former Vice President wins 10 victories in all compared to four for Sanders, including huge upsets in the states of Minnesota and Massachusetts, as other moderates clear a path.

WASHINGTON, DC - Joe Biden's stunning wins on Super Tuesday came as a surprise to even Biden loyalists.

Going into the contest on Tuesday, aides, donors and longtime allies said they hoped to keep the race competitive with Sen. Bernie Sanders (I-Vt.), with an eye toward a contested convention.

They knew better than anyone that Biden lacked the money, staff and resources to win a number of the 14 states up for grabs on Tuesday.
