MADISON - Wisconsin's political landscape was rocked yesterday by a Monday morning bombshell revealing hateful speech used by Wisconsin Supreme Court Justice Rebecca Bradley in articles she wrote as a columnist for the Marquette Tribune. In her writings, Bradley mocks the LGBT community and those suffering from AIDS, describing them as "queers", "degenerates" and "murderers".

Here's a taste of how the news went over in Wisconsin:

Greg Neumann @gneumann_wkow · 18h

.@JudgeBradleyWI said she made homophobic comments due to being upset about 1992 presidential election, but several came 9 mos. before.

Why she would not run to get in front of a camera is puzzling. A statement not cutting it.

.@JudgeBradleyWI used side door to enter fundraiser at the Milwaukee Club. Campaign won't make her available for Qs.
