The State's Workforce Challenges and the Impacts of Republican Inaction.

MADISON — Gov. Tony Evers Thursday delivered the Democratic Radio Address discussing the special session he called on September 20 to urge Republican legislators to address the state's longstanding workforce challenges by passing his comprehensive plan to increase access to affordable child care and prevent the child care industry's collapse, expand paid family leave, educate and train future workers, and support high-need workforce sectors statewide.

Republican lawmakers gavelled into the special session yesterday, but have not yet taken action on the governor's comprehensive workforce plan. More information on the governor's special session plan is available here.
