

Veep trip to Wisconsin is a thinly-veiled attempt to distract from the mounting failures of the Trump administration.

WISCONSIN -- Democratic Party of Wisconsin spokesperson Philip Shulman released the following statement in response to Mike Pence's visit to the Badger state next Tuesday:

"Pence's trip to Wisconsin is a thinly-veiled attempt to distract from the mounting failures of the Trump administration. Pence will have to answer to the Wisconsin workers and farmers that Trump sold out to the Chinese government to recruit their help in his reelection and the thousands of Wisconsinites who are unemployed because Trump botched his coronavirus response. Families across Wisconsin know the truth about Trump's record: he failed to keep his promises and left us vulnerable to the multitude of crises facing our state because he was more interested in securing his own political future than doing his job to keep them safe. November can't come soon enough."
