Shankland's campaign is garnering momentum within the first few weeks of launch.

STEVENS POINT, Wis—State Representative Katrina Shankland announced today her campaign has raised over $100,000 in the first two weeks of her campaign for Wisconsin's third congressional district.

"Our pro-worker, pro-democracy, and pro-reproductive freedom campaign has been gaining momentum since day one," said Shankland. "I'm so proud of the outpouring of support for my campaign. It shows that Wisconsin has had enough of Extremist Derrick's divisive behavior and out-of-touch policies."

Shankland's campaign also announced that their campaign is fueled by over 1,000 individual contributions from over 1,000 contributors.

"Wisconsinites understand the dire need for common sense representation in Congress. They are motivated to beat Radical Derrick Van Orden and invest in a campaign that can win in all parts of the district—including overperforming in the swing and red areas in the General Election. Katrina is that candidate," said Shankland Senior Advisor Alejandro Verdin.
