MILWAUKEE - We are back from summer vacation and welcome a new Battleground WI Podcast panelist, Jorna Taylor, a Wisconsin-based political consultant. We discuss a new report by a television station in Madison revealing at least two companies who received financial awards from the Wisconsin Economic Development Corporation (WEDC) and later outsourced jobs. We talk about a UW-Oshkosh professor's research on why Wisconsin is lagging behind other states on jobs? In addition, we talk about Outagamie becoming the 4th county to place the BadgerCare Referendum on the November ballot, and Sen. Ron Johnson's lawsuit against ACA and more.
