MILWAUKEE - We discuss the latest rushed conservative legislation to restrict voting rights and the newly open (and potentially competitive) 8th CD Congressional seat in Northeast Wisconsin.

We review new dismal approval ratings for Scott Walker and GOP to update listeners about a national Walk-In for Public Schools day next Wednesday, February 17. predictions of a bad state budget.

Milwaukee Teachers Education Association president Kim Schroeder joins us. Jorna provides a Paul Ryan Watch update on the snack party he held this week for the conservative "Freedom" Caucus. We talk about Sen. Tammy Baldwin's legislation to end corporate inversions like the one Johnson Controls recently announced. Finally we chat with Citizen Action Organizing Cooperative member Ted Kraig about the exciting new Radio Active media project launching next Monday evening in Milwaukee.
