

Democrats see Green New Deal yielding gains despite GOP attacks

Written by The Hill Press

Thursday, 29 October 2020 09:47 -

Democrats sense success in energizing voters around a massive investment in clean energy, a topic that unites the party and offers a pathway to growth amid an economic downturn.

WASHINGTON, DC - Democrats are sensing political gains from the Green New Deal heading into Election Day, even as Republicans deride the progressive proposal and some Democratic candidates slink away from it.

Read the full story here