

Taylor, Crowley: Juvenile Corrections Reforms Can't Come Quick Enough

Written by State Senate Democrats

Wednesday, 21 March 2018 10:55 - Last Updated Thursday, 22 March 2018 11:13

<http://newiproggressive.com/images/stories/S5/boy-in-doc-s5.jpg>

Milwaukee Legislators say plan is real step, necessary reforms to our troubled juvenile justice system.

MADISON – The Wisconsin State Senate reached a deal Tuesday to overhaul the juvenile justice system that garnered bi-partisan support. In response, Senator Lena Taylor (D-Milwaukee) and Representative David Crowley (D-Milwaukee) released the following statements:

“People were put in place in juvenile corrections, to provide checks and balances. They failed to do their job. Youth in our correctional facilities have been abused and staff have been harmed”, said Taylor. “It shouldn’t have taken a federal investigation or youth that attempted suicide to get reforms. Today, we took a real step to correct those failures, hopefully improving rehabilitative outcomes and working conditions for those in our juvenile justice system.”

Taylor, Crowley: Juvenile Corrections Reforms Can't Come Quick Enough

Written by State Senate Democrats

Wednesday, 21 March 2018 10:55 - Last Updated Thursday, 22 March 2018 11:13

Reps. D. Anthony Taylor and D. Scott Crowley, both of the House of Representatives, introduced legislation Tuesday that would require the state to fund a study to determine the best way to handle juvenile offenders. The bill, which would also require the state to fund a study to determine the best way to handle juvenile offenders, is a response to the state's current approach to dealing with juvenile offenders. The bill, which would also require the state to fund a study to determine the best way to handle juvenile offenders, is a response to the state's current approach to dealing with juvenile offenders.