

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Speaker Nancy Pelosi (D-Calif.) and Democratic leaders on Wednesday scolded Democrats for publicly taking shots at each other and pleaded for unity as they head into key debates in the coming weeks.

"You got a complaint? You come and talk to me about it. But do not tweet about our members and expect us to think that its just ok," Pelosi told Democrats in a closed-door caucus meeting on Wednesday, according to a source in the room.

Read the full story here