

Impeachment shakes up Democratic White House race

Written by The Hill Press

Sunday, 29 September 2019 15:39 -

WASHINGTON, D.C. - The impeachment inquiry into President Trump has shaken up the Democratic race for the White House.

Democratic consultants and strategists say the impeachment inquiry could help some candidates like Sen. Elizabeth Warren (D-Mass.), who got on the impeachment train early and has been climbing in the polls.

The impeachment proceedings could also boost former vice president Joe Biden — who found himself at the epicenter of the controversy which launched the inquiry — underscoring his claims that he's the candidate Trump is most wary of facing in a general election.

Read the full story here