Voters in Wisconsin don't have to wait to request a ballot for the November 2020 election. Follow the link provided by Treasurer Sarah Godlewski.

MADISON - With the complete lack of transparency or coherent plan coming from the Trump administration, it is never too early to begin thinking about registering for your absentee ballot for the November 2020 election.

The good news is: voters in Wisconsin don't have to wait to request your ballot. You can do it TODAY by following the link below.

I've seen firsthand just how important it is to request your absentee ballot well in advance. In fact, in this past spring election, I had to wait weeks before receiving my ballot. In an election as important as this we can't afford to wait, let's get to work on registering voters immediately.

Our campaign team is working tirelessly to make sure we have the resources necessary to get as many voters registered as possible.
